

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to announce that DP World has been certified as the first, and to date, the only international port operator to partner in the Customs-Trade Partnership against Terrorism (C-TPAT) initiative by US Customs and Border Patrol. By being certified into this program, DP World has once again proved its commitment to maintaining and managing high levels of maritime security standards, procedures and processes at all its global business units.

This certification was primarily based on DP World's commitment to ISO 28000 standards (Security Management System standards for securing the global supply chain) of which DP World was the first global maritime terminal operator to achieve certification. With the C-TPAT certification, DP World becomes the only global marine terminal operator to have achieved ISO 28000 and C-TPAT certification simultaneously.

As of today, all DP World terminals are fully certified as C-TPAT members; this will also be the case for new or future DP World terminals (where DP World corporate security standards are implemented)

As part of the US Customs certification and validation process for DP World group membership to C-TPAT, three of our terminals in Asia - NSICT, Mumbai, India; TPS, Surabaya, Indonesia and ATI, Manila, Philippines - were requested to undertake the validation process between April 14 – 19 and were assisted by the DP World corporate security team.

The Director of Security informs me that all three terminals put in extraordinary efforts to meet the high validation standards required in the time available. It is a very positive reflection on the professionalism, competence and co-operation of our business units and their management teams that they achieved this positive outcome. Their hard work is much appreciated.

Achieving the C-TPAT certification marks out DP World's commitment and contribution to securing the global supply chain and ensuring continued free flow of international trade. It additionally provides DP World, and its customers, with C-TPAT benefits such as reduced cargo exams, priority clearance of containers, training, sharing of information etc.

I would like to congratulate all involved in achieving this valuable certification and encourage sustained efforts to ensure DP World continues to be innovative and forward thinking in all areas of maritime operations.

Regards,

Arif Al Dehail
